

Aviation Product Orders

VANCOUVER October 3, 2006 - Napier Environmental Technologies Inc. (NIR - TSX) reports that it has received significant orders with respect to its aviation products, in particular SV35 PMA that is approved by Airbus and other manufacturers and operators of commercial aircraft. The most recent order received is for the stripping of 6 Airbus 321s for a major European airline and is indicative of the increase in business being experienced in Napier's aviation sector. For the past few years, the aviation products side of Napier's business, which had previously been a significant product category of the Company, had not been promoted.

Steve Balmer, President says, "Our recent initiatives to market and sell these certified products has generated a lot of interest and relatively significant orders for the aviation products side of our business. This initiative is just another step towards the counter seasonal approach to markets that has been undertaken to enable the Company to fully utilize its personnel and facilities."

Napier is a Canadian company primarily engaged in the development, manufacture and distribution of a wide range of products utilizing environmentally advanced technology. The product lines include coating removal and wood restoration products for both the industrial/commercial market and the consumer/retail market.
